

GERMAN WORK IN RUINED BELGIUM

GENERAL VON RISSING SETS FORTH THE PLANS OF CONQUERORS

Report to the News.

BELGIUM, March 25.—Song men of what Germany is trying to accomplish in Belgium is contained in the interview with General von Rissling, German military governor of Belgium, recently granted to a number of German newspapers. "In everything that we are undertaking here," says the general, "all our relations would be simplified if the Belgians only knew what is eventually to become of them."

Belgians are Children.

"But they are such children! We have all the experience of waging the Belgians, on days when we can hear the commanding from Newport and Ypres, believe that the Germans have been defeated and that the Allies are moving on Paris. What children they are!"

No Evil Intent Thought Of.

Belgians, though anxious, are becoming accustomed to German rule and will take the report that the Germans intend to incorporate the Belgian colonies with Belgium, and as a result, under the command of Junkers and patrols like "maggot" children leave the school.

Both Good and Bad Days.

However, our Belgian friends, both good and bad, are causing the ruined men of Belgium, who have lost their country and are beginning to grow fatigued and that their wives have changed opinions. The Germans have had to make them believe in the future which often results in battle royal.

Pelicans Must Raise Own Food.

"We have arrived," says the general, "in order to provide the Belgian government with a new form of government at early as day as possible. For this reason I have authorized all agricultural interests, and have made every effort to allow the safety of Belgian's gardens. I have endeavored to make the production of sugar beet by 500,000 tons, so as to permit in its shift the raising of grain and potatoes. That is, sugar and the raising of vegetables and fruit also are being encouraged."

Independent Investigations.

Among the difficulties, however, in restoring Belgium to something approaching a peaceful status is the difficulty of getting away from the responsibility of raw materials. The restoration of the past requires the restoration of the present, and the restoration of the present requires the restoration of the past. He declares that the Belgian government will not be able to do in the way of the expectation of the present, nor in these of which Germany itself has need.

Only On Threshold of Work.

"There is still much to be done in Belgium," concludes the governor, "for we are really on the threshold of our work. Our improvement of sanitary and veterinary work already bears fruit. Protection exists to an alarming degree, and we have already accomplished its restriction to some extent."

Belgians Bearing Fruit.

"We have begun with herculean efforts unknown and laws to limit labor by women and to protect children and women. These are but beginnings, to be sure, but they are beginning to bear fruit, even though the Belgian workers feel the intellect and comprehension of social laws possessed by the German workman. Laws for the protection of labor are unknown to us. We who come here come to supplement that with establishment.

German Will Come To Honor.

"Put it out! Stick it out! German ways and means and German character, German ideals, and German work will come to honor in Belgium, just as there will victoriously go over the world."

Where Shooting Counts.

Trap shooting indicates about 500 good gunners, among which are soldiers and civilians, and these names were never better exemplified than at Prospect Park, Pa., on February 17, when a band of desperadoes ran wild through the town in the Wild West style, shooting indiscriminately at residents and police, and robbing everybody in town. The bandits had been using that language as they pleased, despite the heroic efforts to stop them, until one was arrested in the outskirts of the town, where the White City Trap Shooting Club was holding its monthly shoot. The savages left the town at once, armed with their shot guns, and ran up the railroad, and after firing loads of shot into three of them, scattered the others, many of whom they ran down.

We believe that residents of that section will have a greater regard for trap shooting and its importance than ever before. Spartan life.

ACTORS PERFORM FOR RELIEF WORK

GERMAN ARTISTS JOIN EFFORTS IN "WAR THEATRE" IN BEHALF OF COUNTRYMEN.

Special to The News.

WILHELMSTADT, March 25.—One of the most notable theatres in all Germany, still less than six months old, is the "War Theatre" that has been established here with actors from all over the empire, some of them with international reputations, as its singers and musicians.

The theatre was established under the patronage of the Princess Adelbert. Its earnings go toward relief work. Its patrons are largely soldiers and sailors, many of them wounded and recuperating for further service. Its artists almost without exception are musicians of note who have left promising positions for far more humble actions in the navy.

The director of the opera and music producer is Dr. Munier, conductor of the orchestra of the concert theatre in Stuttgart, who has been called into the service as lieutenant in a medical corps of naval division.

The acting is under the direction of L. Preissler, member of the staff at the Little Theatre in Berlin. Since the beginning of the war joined a naval patrol corps as a volunteer and now is the operator of a hydro-aeroplane.

The cast includes Gustavus Marstaller, the tenor, of the state theatre in Bayreuth; Max Kappel, baritone, of the state theatre in Hamburg, and a violinist, Otto Schlesinger, a violinist of note. A former member of the War Theatre forces was Windgassen, the celebrated opera singer at Paris, who at the outbreak of the war was a Machinist's Mate. He was wounded, however, and after recovering and completing his term of service took to Gauch.

MINISTER IS ATTACKED WITH APPENDICTIS.

Rev. Horace Howell, of Dallas, has been confined in a room in the Austin Hotel since Wednesday night suffering from an attack of appendicitis. Rev. Howell was passing through the city en route home from Fort Worth and was compelled to stop here for medical attention.

Mr. Howell arrived at his hotel yesterday. He was reported to be improving last evening.

East Side Church.

Rev. John A. Travis, pastor of the East Side church, announces that there will be services at his church next Sunday morning and evening. He extends a general invitation to the public to attend each of these meetings and will be glad to see a full house.

MAKES EFFORT TO CON-

SERVE GASOLINE SUPPLY.

PERILIN, March 25.—A number of commercial organizations have issued an appeal to the shipping public to avail itself as far as possible of the delivery system for purchases. In order that gasoline and tires may be saved and possible delivery eventualities.

It is a patriotic measure of the greatest importance, says the appeal, "to avoid every possible unnecessary and superfluous use of the delivery system. In such cases, however, where it is necessary, bear in mind the country's interests and do not insist on deliveries at unusual hours."

It is pointed out that not only does every delivery use up gasoline, but may be necessary for military purposes, but that horses must be fed in greater quantity if they are used in this way.

Whenever You Need a General Tonic Take Grove's.

The Old Standard Grove's Tanglewood Cold Tonic is equally valuable as a General Tonic because it contains the well known tonic properties of QUININE and IRON. It acts on the Liver, drives out Malaria, Enriches the Blood and Builds up the Whole System. 20 cents.

"STAR—The Pocket-Pal of All Good Fellows."

Men Who Chew Are Men Who DO

NO men more fully enjoy the jolly companionship of good chewing tobacco than the foresters who conserve America's standing timber.

These big, brawny, heavy men, already to fight a forest fire or a grand ball games are to take twenty-mile "hikes" in the dead of night, as STAR plug smokers well as STAR chewers. They find STAR mighty pleasant company when they're alone—and when they meet a traveler they're glad to pass them a plug to him. They know that STAR is good for one and better for two.

Each STAR plug is thick with a thickness of long lasting, mellow chewing leaf that just suits to a "T" the taste of Americans. Each STAR plug weighs a full 16 ounce pound, every time. Each STAR plug is made clean and kept set; a STAR plug won't droop like a thin plug—and the taste lasts. It will just take you but a few seconds to cut off a chew of STAR and get it into your mouth—to understand why STAR is the leading brand of the world;
